COOKING AT THE CLUB IS HOT!
Jekyll Island Club Hotel Offers Elite Cooking School

Jekyll Island, GA --- The Jekyll Island Club Hotel announces plans to offer its exciting cooking school August 24-28, 2008. Executive Chef Abigail Hutchinson, Pastry Chef Carl Sears, and the culinary staff of the Hotel are excited to present this three-day, four-night culinary event at the Hotel's Crane Cottage.

Upon arrival, participants receive a welcome gift and Jekyll Island Club Hotel logo chef's jacket which they are encouraged to wear during the cooking classes. The Welcome Reception Sunday evening is followed by the Hotel's Sunday Dinner Dance with dinner and entertainment in the Grand Dining Room.

Monday morning, the cooking school sessions begin with hands-on cooking classes in the kitchen at Crane Cottage and continue through Wednesday. Participants may expect to learn from professionals how to prepare delectable gourmet dishes, methods of efficiency in food preparation, professional standards of food safety, and creative presentation skills. Chef Abigail says, "We share with our cooking school participants some of our 'secrets of the trade' that distinguish our cuisine from others." Patisserie sessions focus on the dessert course, and a wine tasting Monday evening with the Hotel's sommelier gives insight into pairing wines with courses. A full breakfast will be served each morning, and participants also enjoy on Wednesday evening a farewell dinner that they help prepare.

The fee for the cooking school package is $1449.00 per couple or $989.00 for an individual. All taxes and gratuities on the package are included; the resort fee is extra. The school requires a minimum eight packages to be sold 30 days prior to the event, or the Hotel reserves the right to cancel the event. Participant cancellation within 14 days of the event forfeits 50% of the package price.

Make plans now to attend one of these outstanding cooking schools!
